The Board of Directors shall have complete discretion as to the number of members of each convention committee and the appointment of one (1) member as chairperson. The President shall be an ex-officio member of each committee, excluding the executive nominations committee, but not more than one (1) member of the Board of Directors may be appointed as a regular member of any convention committee.

3. When a delegate wishes to speak, he/she shall proceed to one of the microphones provided for that purpose. When recognized by the chair, he/she shall give his/her name and the local or organization he/she represents and shall confine his/her remarks to the question at issue.
4. Before speaking, unless it be on a point of order, an appeal made immediately following the decision of the chair, or a motion for the orders of the day, or a question of privilege, a delegate must be recognized by the chair.
5. When two (2) or more delegates rise simultaneously, the chair shall decide the order in which they are to be recognized.

8. Any delegate who refuses to take his/her seat when called upon by the chair to do so may, at the discretion of the chair, be suspended from the remainder of the convention or any part thereof, and if any delegate persistently engages in unparliamentary behaviour, the chair shall name him/her and ask the convention to impose appropriate sanctions.

17. A motion to adjourn, table, postpone, or otherwise delay may be repeated after progress.
18. A delegate may move "that the previous question be put." It is not debatable and, if adopted by a two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) majority, has the effect of closing debate on only the immediate motion, amendment or sub-amendment.
19. Any committee bringing a resolution or report before the convention shall move adoption, any recommendation of the committee notwithstanding.
20. Reports of committees are not subject to amendment except such as is acceptable to the committee, but a motion to refer back to the committee for reconsideration shall be in order. A referral back without instructions is not debatable or conversely with instructions is debatable.
21. If the report of a committee is adopted it becomes the decision of the convention; if defeated it may be referred back to the committee for reconsideration.
22. A motion to reconsider a question may be made by a delegate who voted with the prevailing side on that question. This motion must be made during the same or immediately succeeding session of the convention at which the question was decided and must be supported by a majority.

23. A notice of motion to reconsider a question may be given by any delegate who voted with the prevailing side and such notice must be given at the same session of the convention at which the question was decided. The motion to reconsider then stands to be called up at the next session, or within twenty-four (24) hours.

Any delegate may call up the motion, which requires a simple majority vote to be adopted. If not called up within twenty-four (24) hours, or if final adjournment shall have intervened, the effect of the notice is lost.

24. As a general rule, the opportunity to speak first on a resolution should be given to a delegate from the organization(s) that originated it. On committee reports a member of the committee should be given the opportunity to speak first.
25. A resolution may, in case of urgent and pressing necessity previously explained by the mover, be made only by consent of two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) majority without notice as provided in Rule 1 having been given. No such resolution may be offered if it is substantially the same as one on which the judgement of the convention has already been expressed during the same convention.
26. The rules of order and the order of business, once adopted, may be changed only by a two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) vote.
27. Any rule of order and procedure can be temporarily suspended by a two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) majority of the delegates registered.
